Editor's note:

We hope you enjoy the games, quizzes, and other features this month.

Two of the SCCF's traditional tournaments are covered, and together, they provided 8 of the 15 positions in our quizzes. Usually, we try to use positions from only recent local games in these quizzes, but you just might find one that is recent but not local. It was too good to pass up!

We provide all the games from the Southern California State Championship. From the Southern California Open we have the three prize winning games, plus the biggest upset.

And we encourage all you hard working tournament directors to try to provide carbon copy score sheets for those decisive late-round games to make it easier for those moves to find their way onto these pages.

Please take a look at the two games from the 11th Metro this month. When your opponent tries to trap your Queen, you might never look at it the same way, ever again!

Until next issue, good luck in your chess! - Ed.

51st Pacific Southwest

Dear Mr. Stevens,

First of all, I would like to congratulate you on another quality issue of R&F magazine. I have noticed the recent improvements in the publication, and I think the chess community in Southern California benefits from your efforts, as well as those of your publisher, contributors, et cetera. Please pass my congratulations on to them.

Advertising Rates: Full page $80, half-page $45, ¼ page $25, 1/8 page $15, back cover (¾ page) $80. (All rates are for camera-ready copy.) Flyer insert $50 (advertiser must supply flyers). 50% discount for tournaments requiring SCCF membership. Payment should be sent to the Treasurer at P.O. Box 205, Monterey Park CA 91754. Display ads should be sent to the Editor, and flyers to the Publisher (addresses at right). SCCF reserves the right to reject any advertising.

I was a bit disappointed to see that the article on the 51st Pacific Southwest event made absolutely no mention of either of the scholastic sections. I don't just mean that the winners weren't listed; there was no mention that there had been any scholastic sections at all! Perhaps it was an oversight stemming from the fact that the ratings reports for the scholastic sections were submitted separately (i.e. as a separate event officially directed by FM Iwamoto), and maybe the article was written in part from a cursory look at the ratings report for the higher (open and U1800) sections. But if so, I would hope such oversights are not repeated, because I think the dues-paying (parents of) SCCF scholastic players deserve some mention of those sections in R&F.

Again, great job on the magazine overall -- keep it up!

Sorry! We had some late constraints in time and space when making up the issue, in addition to lack of awareness of a few things, too.

It's certainly our intent to cover scholastic events. It's the future of chess!

And thanks for your kind words, we appreciate them.

Here are the winners of the 42-player event; the web version of the issue will be updated, too. -Ed.

See page 26 for the whole game.

2. White takes advantage of Black's Queen placement to break open the center. 11.Bxc4! dxc4 12.d5 Qg6 13.dxc6 0-0 14.c7 +/- . See the rest of the game in Yankovsky - Clawitter, 23rd Southern California Ch. (5). See page 19 for the whole game.

3. Black's exposed King is exploited with 29.Nxc6! bxc6 30.Bxc7 Kxc7 31.Qd4+ Kg8 32.Qxc5 Qf8 33.Nd3 Nf5, and again with 34.Bxd5+! 1-0, in Peters - Yankovsky, 23rd Southern California Ch. (6). See page 20 for the whole game.

Cy & Jack

By IM Jack Peters and IM Cyrus Lakdawala

Cy deviates from his usual Slav this month. Instead, he contributes a game in which he gave the “1...d6 Universal” defense a tryout. You don’t need to look at what White does until move 2. In the game, Jack immediately finds White’s play objectionable, but Cy finds it tough to beat if played in a conservative manner. But first, we get to see Jack’s last round game in the SCCF State Championship, in which he also played Black. His opponent, Yanayt, was tied with Yankovsky for first at 4½-1½, with Tim Taylor half a point behind. Jack was a full point back at 3½-2½, needing a win, so he chose to play the Benoni. And it did get pretty wild at a few points.

As always, we hope you enjoy the games, the different ways of looking at a position, and even the disagreements! - Ed.

Yanayt, Eugene (2236) - Peters, Jack (2377)
[A60] Benoni Defense
23rd Southern California Ch. (7)
Beverly Hills, 28.08.2011

Jack: My opponent shared first place entering the last round, while I was hoping just to achieve a respectable score.

1.d4 Nf6 2.c4 e6 3.g3 c5

Cy: With this move order Black avoids some of the really scary lines of the Benoni.

Jack: In 2008, I chose 3...d5 and we drew a dull game. In the 1st Metropolitan International, I tried the less explored 3...Bb4+ 4.Bd2 Be7 and we eventually reached a Dutch Stonewall. Black had an edge for a while, but I was lucky to draw.

4.d5 exd5 5.cxd5 b5!?

Jack: This attempt to improve on the Modern Benoni (5...d6 6. Nc3 g6) has a good theoretical reputation.

6.Bg2

Jack: Most natural. Sharpest is 6.e4!? Nxe4 7.Qe2 Qe7 8.Bg2 f5 9.Be3, when White has adequate compensation for the pawn.

6...d6 7.Nf3

Jack: Sensible, although not very dangerous to Black. Instead, White could provoke ...b5-b4 by 7.a4 or 7.Nc3.

But I was most concerned by the wild 7.b4!? cxb4 8.Nf3 Bb7 9.Nd4 Qb6 10.0-0. White’s Knight may settle on c6 or f5, and I did not trust snatching the d-pawn.

7...Nbd7 8.0-0

8...Be7

Jack: At e7, the Bishop will do little other than defend d6. However, I did not care for 8...g6 9.e4 (Cy: The simple 9.Bf4 may also prove annoying for Black.) 9...Bg7 10.Bf4 Qb6 11.e5 dxe5 12.Nxe5 Nxe5 13.Bxe5 0-0 14.Nc3, as in Pavel Kotsur - Rasul Ibrahimov, Dubai 2005. Black is nearly even, but I considered the d-pawn more of an asset than a liability.

9.Re1 0-0 10.e4 Nb6

Jack: Preventing e4-e5 by indirect means, as d5 would hang.

11.Qc2

Jack: Fritz suggests 11.a4!? Nxa4 12.e5, which I never considered. The sacrifice appears promising after 12...Ne8 13.Na3!? a6 14.Nc4.

White must avoid 11.b3? Nxe4 12.Rxe4 Bf6±.

But 11.Nbd2 Bd7 12.b3 assures White of safe equality.

11...Re8 12.Nc3 b4 13.Nd1

Jack: White wants to plant a Knight at c4 after Nd1-e3 and Nf3-d2. But White cannot execute this plan because of tactical problems on the e-file.

13...Bf8

14.h3?!

Jack: After this wasted tempo, Black obtains the advantage.

White correctly rejected 14. Ne3? Nxe4 and 14. Nd2? Nfxd5, but he could still maintain equality by 14. a3! a5 15.axb4 axb4 16.Rxa8 Nxa8 17.b3 Nb6 18.Nb2 g6 19.Nc4=.

14...a5 15.a3 Ba6

Cy: I would play 15...b3 16.Qb1 (16.Qxb3 Nxe4) 16...Ba6.

16.b3

Jack: White should make the small concession of Bishop for Knight to minimize Black's edge: 16.Bg5 h6 17.Bxf6 Qxf6 18.Ne3.

16...g6 17.axb4

Jack: Opening the a-file helps Black. White should try 17. Nb2 first.

The obvious 17.Bb2 Bg7 does not solve White's problem with the clumsy nag at d1.

17...axb4 18.Nb2

18...Bg7?!

Jack: After long thought, I convinced myself that 18...Bd3! 19.Rxa8 Bxc2 20.Rxd8 Rxd8 was good for White because 21.Bg5 Bg7 22.Nd2 defended White's weak pawns and threatened the Bishop by 23. Rc1. But this is completely wrong. Black can refute the idea by 22... h6! 23.Bxf6 Bxf6 24.Nd1 (or 24.Rc1 Bxb3! 25.Nxb3 Bxb2-+) 24...Ra8 25.Ne3 Bc3 26.Nxc2 Ra2! Cy: The Benoni structure, in general, tends to favor Black in any ending.

19.Ra2

Jack: Too uncomfortable is 19.Bf1?! Bxf1 20.Rxa8 Qxa8 21.Kxf1 Qa2.

19...Qd7

Cy: Black also makes headway after 19...Bb5 20.Rxa8 Qxa8 21.Qb1 Qa6.

20.Kh2 Bb5 21.Rxa8 Rxa8

22.Nc4?

Jack: Chess is a lot like life. White accomplishes his long-sought goal, and it doesn't help.

Cy: Stop being such a downer, Jack.

Jack: Nor can White stand 22.Nd2?! Ra2 23.Qb1 Qa7. But 22.Nd3! should defend.

22...Bxc4! 23.bxc4 Qa4

Cy: ! Any ending will be very tough for White to hold.

24.Qd3

Jack: White cannot hold c4 and deal with the b-pawn. White has no active continuation after 24.Qxa4 Rxa4 25.e5 Ne8.

24...Nfd7

Jack: I was tempted by 24...b3? 25.e5? Qxc4! 26.Qxc4 Nxc4 27.exf6 Bxf6-+ until I realized that 24...b3? 25.Nd2 Nfd7 26.Qxb3 escapes.

Cy: I am not so sure about that. Black looks like he has sustained pressure after 26...Qxb3 27.Nxb3 Nxc4.

25.Bf4 b3!-+

Jack: Welcoming 26. Bxd6 Nxc4. White's central pawns won't matter if Black controls e5.

Cy: The river branches into a smaller stream. 25...Qa3! to chase off White's Queen is also very strong.

26.Nd2

Jack: In post-game analysis, we thought White had some hope with 26.Rb1 b2 27.Bf1 but Black wins convincingly with 27...Qb4! 28.Bd2 Qa3. For example, 29.Qxa3 Rxa3 30.Be3 runs into 30...Ra1 31.Nd2 Bc3-+.

26...b2

Cy: ! One soldier who grabs the high ground is worth three below. Protection of d6 is irrelevant. The b-pawn smashes through, like a tire iron through an old pumpkin.

27.Bxd6

Jack: Or 27.Bf1 Ne5 28.Bxe5 Bxe5-+.

27...Qb4

28.Bf1?!

Jack: Toughest is 28.Rb1 Ra1 29.Bf1. Fritz shows the persuasive line 29...Be5 30.Be7 Rxb1 31.Nxb1 Qe1 32.Kg2 Bd4 33.Qc2 Ne5 34.d6 Bxf2! 35.Qxb2 Bd4 36.Qc2 Qe3-+.

28...Be5!

Cy: The immediate 28...Nxc4! is also a game ender.

29.f4

Jack: Black's idea is 29.Be7 Bc3 30.Bg5 Ne5 31.Qe2 Bxd2 32.Bxd2 Qxd2 33.Qxd2 Nf3+ 34.Kg2 Nxd2-+.

29...Bxd6 30.e5 Nxc4! 0-1

Baker, Bruce (2310) - Lakdawala, Cy (2539) [B07] 1...d6 Defense Gambito #451 (3) San Diego, 09.01.2010

Cy: This game is a shortened version from my book 1...d6: Move by Move.

1.e4 d6 2.d4 Nf6 3.Nc3 Nbd7 4.g3 e5 5.Nge2

Jack: I don't like this system for White, mostly because of the Knight at e2. It can't do anything unless Black cooperates by capturing on d4. And f2-f4 loses some of its punch without the Knight at f3, attacking e5.

5...c6 6.Bg2

Cy: With the Fianchetto line, insidiously difficult to meet, White hopes to build up a Kingside attack slowly, with 0-0, h3, f4 and sometimes g4.

I find it a tough line to beat when White plays it conservatively.

But remember, people also claimed the Titanic was unsinkable. Any opening, no matter how solid, can be broken down and beaten if you understand the structure.

Jack: The choice is 6.a4.

6...b5

Cy: I won't give him a chance to later change his mind and toss in a4, so I play the expansion immediately.

7.0-0 Bb7 8.Re1

Cy: Question: You said White plays for h3 and f4 earlier. Wouldn't it have been more logical to leave his rook on f1 if he plans f4?

Answer: His move is good since it reinforces e4. Black's counterplay often comes via counterplay on his e4 pawn, similar to Black's strategy in Chapter 3. If he keeps his Rook on f1 his e-pawn may be vulnerable to the setup: ...Bb7 ...Be7 ...0-0 ...Re8 ...Bf8 ...a5 ...b4 (chasing the defender away from c3) ...exd4 and ...c5.

8...Be7

Jack: Black obtains a very favorable form of the Philidor. Less logical is the King's Indian idea 8...g6?! because White can open the d-file and exert pressure on d6 by 9.d5! b4?! 10.dxc6 Bxc6 11.Nd5±.

9.h3 0-0

Cy: Question: You talked earlier in the game about the two philosophies for White on the Queenside. What about the same for Black? Can you play 9...h5 to curb White's kingside expansion ambitions?

Answer: Having studied the position further, I think you are right. Black should play ...h5!, despite the risk of compromising my Kingside castling position.

Jack: I'm shocked! I wouldn't consider g3-g4 much of a threat, and I wouldn't weaken my Kingside to stop it. I admit, though, that I don't see how White can exploit this weakening.

10.a3

Cy: Question: You said White doesn't want to get drawn into a Queenside fight. Why start pushing Queenside pawns now?

Answer: He wants to stabilize e4 by ensuring that his c3-knight gets to remain where it is. But, in a sense you are right. It is a Queenside pawn move and a3 makes it easier for Black to create trouble on the queenside. Still, I feel his move is necessary.

Jack: It's sad to see an attacker like Bruce Baker reduced to pitiful defensive moves. His position is poor, and he has to change the course of the game now. I suggest 10.d5 cxd5 11.Nxd5 Nxd5 12.exd5±, accepting some inferiority in the center in the hope that f2-f4 will eventually give White a chance to bring his Knight to d4.

10...Re8

Cy: Question: If he develops his Bishop to e3 he weakens his e-pawn. How can White develop that piece?

Answer: By fianchettoing it.

11.b3! Bf8 12.Bb2 a6

Cy: Thinking about a sudden ...exd4 followed by ...c5.

13.Qd2 g6

Cy: Timing is the key. Black should avoid the premature 13...exd4?! 14.Nxd4 c5 15.Nf5, when he gets tied down to the weakness on d6.

14.dxe5

Cy: The Wyatt Earp philosophy: Leave your guns aside at the Tombstone city limits. This was a final round game with my opponent and I tied for first. He plays to simplify.

His e-pawn comes under fire if he maintains the central tension for too long. For example: 14.Rad1 Qc7 15.f4 Rad8 16.g4 exd4 17.Nxd4 c5;

Jack: I agree that White should bolster e4, but I think White should delay d4xe5 until Black's Bishop goes to g7. For example, 14.g4 h6 15.Rad1 Qc7 16.Ng3 Bg7 17.dxe5 dxe5 18.Qd6 Qb6 19.Bc1± makes it more difficult for Black to use c5.

14...dxe5 15.Rad1 Qb6 16.Nc1

Cy: Preparing to redeploy to the more effective d3 square.

16...Rad8 17.Qe2 a5 18.Nb1!

Cy: Steinitz approved. White gets out of the way of Black's Queenside pawns and gives him no real targets.

Jack: White never gets his Knight to d3. This was a good moment for it.

18...b4!?

Cy: Question: You just handed over control of c4. Why?

Answer: I admit my last move was a risky decision. I weakened the c4 square in order to make spatial gains on the queenside. If I don't take action the position is drawish. Remember, we talked about Fischer's motto: One must give up squares in order to get squares.

Jack: I approve of all three Black Queenside pawn moves. The most apt motto applies to White: "Passive positions lose!"

19.Qf3

Jack: The Knights need repositioning more urgently than the Queen. I prefer 19.axb4 axb4 20.Nd3, which Fritz mistakenly calls equal. White is still struggling, but he can hope to bring his Knight at b1 to c4 or f3.

19...c5

Jack: Possibly premature, as White no longer has to worry about ...Nd7-c5 or ...Bf8-c5. If White can restrain ...c5-c4, he should survive.

20.Nd2 Qc7 21.Qe3

Cy: Avoiding the trap 21.Nc4? Nxe4! 22.Rxe4? f5.

Jack: White gets too tangled by 21.Bf1?! Bh6, but 21.Nd3 Bh6 22.Qe2 isn't too bad.

21...Nb6 22.Bf1?

Jack: So desirable, but Cy's last sneaky move introduced another element. White had to pause for 22. Nd3.

Cy: Exercise (planning): White's last move was too positional! Come up with a plan for Black to grab the initiative.

Answer:

22...Rxd2!

Cy: Black gets big compensation for the exchange.

23.Qxd2 Nxe4 24.Qe2

Cy: Exercise (combination alert): Maybe this doesn't constitute a real combination since Black doesn't sac anything. Perhaps it should be titled: Find a forcing line that wins.

If 24.Qe3?!, then c4 opens up c5 for the Bishop.

24...c4?!

Cy: But not this way!

Answer: 24...bxa3! 25.Ba1 (25. Bxa3 Nc3 regains the exchange plus one pawn.) 25...Ng5 26.Bg2 Bxg2 27.Kxg2 Qc6+ 28.f3 e4 wins.

Jack: Agreed. This is Black's best way to win.

25.Bg2

Cy: Exercise (critical decision): ...c3 or not ...c3--that is the question? 25...f5?

Answer: Tragically, your writer remains initiative challenged and generally sucks in those rare moments when he actually has it! I lack what Barack Obama called "the fierce urgency of now" and tend to putz around, tinkering with some subtlety. But if not now, then when? I make the reader a promise: I will change my indecisive ways and from now on take bold action at every opportunity...starting tomorrow!

Of course I should have buried his Bishop with 25...c3!;

Jack: You're too harsh! Although 25...c3 succeeds against 26.Bxe4? cxb2 27.Nd3 Bxe4 28.Qxe4 bxa3-- Black still has plenty of work to do after 25...c3 26.Ba1 Nd2 (not 26...Ng5? 27.h4 as the e-pawn drops) 27.Bxb7 Qxb7 28.Rxd2 cxd2 29.Qxd2 bxa3, when his initiative is gone and he has to rely on his passed pawn at a3.

One last idea is 25...c3 26.Ba1 Nxf2! 27.Kxf2 Bc5+ 28.Kf1 Re6, with a fierce attack. But I prefer the clarity of 25...f5, which keeps Black's positional advantages without risk.

26.Bxe4 fxe4!?

Cy: The plan: Apply pressure on f2 with ...Bc5 and ...Rf8.

Jack: This plan appeals to me. Rely on your pieces!

Cy: Or 26...Bxe4 to keep the diagonal open.

27.axb4 Bxb4?!?

Cy: Once again I should push the c-pawn with 27...c3! Elvis was right: "A little less conversation, a little more action please!" 28.Bxc3 Qxc3 29.Na2 Qc6 30.bxa5 e3 gives Black a strong attack.

Jack: Maybe, but those three passers shouldn't be dismissed! Your decision to refrain from 27...c3 seems right to me.

28.c3!?

Cy: It's understandable that he wanted to avoid 28.Rf1 c3.

Jack: Or 28.Rf1 Qc6.

28...Bc5 29.bxc4 Rf8 30.Rf1 a4 31.Na2

Cy: Black's advantages, all for the low price of an exchange:

1. Black's bishops focus their angry gazes on the White King.
2. White fights pressure down the f-file.
3. White experiences vulnerability on f3.
4. Black's a-pawn keeps White worried about its further advance.
5. c4 is teetering and on the brink of falling.

Conclusion: White's game is a disaster.

Yankovsky Takes 23rd Southern California State Championship

August 13-14 & 27-28, 2011

by IM Jack Peters

The best player won. Isn't that the primary goal of a tournament, to determine the best player? In the 23rd edition of the Southern California Championship, 19-year old Roman Yankovsky led from start to finish. He defeated dangerous rival Tatev Abrahamyan in the first round and co-leader Tim Taylor in the third round, and he clinched first place by outlasting Josh Gutman in a long last-round endgame.

Anyone who followed Yankovsky's string of successes since he arrived in Los Angeles last year would have tabbed him as the pre-tournament favorite. He's already a polished professional, and he's improving steadily. Let's hope he stays in Los Angeles!

Two others nearly kept pace with the winner. Tim Taylor had a disappointing performance in the 2009 state championship, but he returned to show his best qualities this year. He led the event with five wins.

Eugene Yanayt, a quiet fellow who belongs in any discussion of the best local players, always plays sensibly and solidly, the perfect style for round robins. He had the best chance of catching Yankovsky in the last round.

This year, the state championship was sandwiched around the 1st Metropolitan International. Hardly an ideal arrangement, but not a conflict either. Six players (all but Yankovsky and Gutman) took the opportunity to compete in both tournaments.

The warm hospitality of the Minoofar family made everyone comfortable at the Beverly Hills Chess Club. I urge more spectators to attend next year! ♖

We present each of the tournament's 28 games below, with notes provided by Jack Peters for three of the games. In addition, Joshua Gutman comments on his win against Jack. Finally, please note the use of FIDE ratings in the tables and games, instead of USCF ratings. - Ed.

Game 10

Yankovsky,Roman (2400) -
Taylor,Timothy (2279)
[B03] Alekhine's Defense

Notes by IM Jack Peters.

1.e4

This was a battle of the leaders - each started 2-0.

1...Nf6 2.e5 Nd5 3.d4 d6 4.Bc4

Instead of the usual 4.Nf3 or 4.c4.

4...Nb6 5.Bb3

5...d5!?

You have to admire Tim for following the recommendation he published in Alekhine Alert. Many authors only disclose their secrets after they abandon an opening.

Most common is 5...dxe5 6.Qh5 e6 7.dxe5, which may favor White.

Lev Alburt used to play 5...Bf5, anticipating 6.Qf3 Qc8, but Tim suggests 6.e6!? to disrupt Black's development.

6.c3 e6

Tim calls this a "solid French structure" with a "misplaced Bishop on b3."

I prefer 6...Bf5, hoping for the French structure and a trade of light-square Bishops.

7.Nf3 Be7 8.Bc2 Bd7 9.0-0 c5 10.a3 a5

Snuffing b2-b4.

Black may also consider 10...cxd4 or 10...c4.

11.Re1 Nc6?!

An inaccuracy that White fails to exploit. Instead, Black should seize more light squares with 11...a4.

12.Nbd2?!

White could obtain a very promising position with 12.dxc5! Bxc5 13.a4, intending Nb1-a3-b5 and inviting 13...0-0? 14.Bxh7+!

12...cxd4 13.cxd4 a4

Most logical.

I do not trust 13...g5 14.h3 h5 15.Nf1 g4 16.hxg4 hxg4 17.N3h2 Qc7 18.Nxg4 0-0-0, although Fritz claims Black has adequate compensation.

14.Nf1 Na5 15.N3d2

15...Nc6?

A serious loss of time. Either 15...Rc8 or 15...Bb5 improves. Black has at least equal chances.

16.Qg4 g6 17.Nf3 Nc4?!

Now the game turns into a battle of attacks on opposite wings, which suits White because his threats involve Black's King.

Black would suffer on the dark squares after 17...Qc7?! 18.Bg5±, but he can get substantial counterplay from 17...Rc8, or 17...h5 18.Qg3 Rc8, not fearing 19.Bxg6 Rg8.

18.Bh6!

Correctly offering the b-pawn to strengthen his grip on the Kingside.

18...b5

After 18...Nxb2 19.Ne3, White plans Qg4-f4 or Re1-b1.

19.Qf4

One threat is 20.Bg7 Rg8 21.Qh6. Black stops it by attacking d4.

19...Qb6 20.Ne3 Nxb2 21.Bg5!

Well-timed, as 21...Nxd4? would lose to 22.Bxe7 Nxf3+ 23.Qxf3 Kxe7? 24.Qf6+.

21...b4

Most alternatives lose to 22.Ng4.

The desperate 21...Bxg5 22.Nxg5 0-0-0 23.Nxf7 Qxd4 gets a little compensation for the exchange.

22.Reb1?

Right idea, wrong order of moves.

White should transpose to the game by 22.Bxe7 Nxe7 23.Reb1+-.

22...bxa3?

Black's last chance is 22...Nxd4! 23.Qxd4 (not 23.Bxe7?? Ne2+) 23...Qxd4 24.Nxd4 Bxg5 25.Rxb2 b3. Black's two passers and unchallenged dark-square Bishop negate White's advantage in material.

23.Bxe7 Nxe7 24.Rxa3

Winning.

24...Qb4

Worse is 24...0-0? 25.Ng4+-.

White can refute 24...Rb8 by 25.Ng4, or 25.Ra2 a3 26.Rxa3.

25.Ra2 a3 26.Rxb2

Another tempting course is to postpone material gain and continue attacking with 26.Qf6!? Rf8 27.Ng5.

26...Qxb2

After 26...axb2 27.Rxa8+ Bc8 28.Bb1 Qc3 29.Nc2+-, Black runs out of threats. Next White will pick off the b-pawn by Ra8-b8 and Qf4-d2.

27.Rxb2 axb2 28.h4

Not as clear is 28.Nd2?! Ra1+ 29.Bb1 Bb5.

28...Ra1+ 29.Kh2 b1Q

Black has more chances to swindle White after 29...Rc1 30.Nd2 h5.

30.Bxb1 Rxb1 31.Ng4+-

White no longer has to worry about Queenside counterplay. His Queen and Knights can attack relentlessly.

31...Nf5

31...h6 Fritz considers 32.Nxh6 Nf5 33.Nxf5 exf5 toughest. However, Black is too vulnerable on the dark squares.

32.Nf6+ Kd8 33.Qd2

Threatening 34.Qa5+, with the possible finish 34...Ke7 35.Qc7 Rd8 36.Qc5+.

33...Rb7

If 33...Rb5 White invades on the Kingside by 34.g4 Ne7 35.Qh6+-.

34.Qa5+

34...Kc8

If 34...Ke7 35.g4 Nh6, White picks up more material by 36.Qa6 Rc7 37.Qd6+ Kd8 38.Nxd7 Rxd7 39.Qb8+ Ke7 40.Qxh8+-.

Against 34...Rc7 35.Ng5 Nh6 White's quickest win begins 36.Nge4!

dxe4 37.d5+-.

35.g4 Ne7 36.Qa8+ Rb8 37.Qa6+ Kd8

No better are 37...Kc7 38.Qd6+ and 37...Rb7 38.Nxd7.

38.Qa7! 1-0

Game 12

Gutman, Joshua (2107) -

Peters, Jack (2377)

[E39] Nimzoindian Defense

Notes by Joshua Gutman.

1.d4 Nf6 2.c4 e6

This move came totally unexpected to me. I knew Jack had played it a few times before, but I still did not expect it.

3.Nc3 Bb4 4.Qc2

I've had bad results with Qc2, but I was hoping to avoid any reverse preparation.

4...c5 5.dxc5 0-0 6.Bf4!?

A rare move.

6...Bxc5 7.e3 Nh5 8.Bg3 Nc6
9.Be2 Nxc3 10.hxc3 g6?!

It's unnecessary for Black to weaken the dark squares even if it might not immediately be an issue.

11.Nf3 b6 12.Rd1 a6 13.a3 Be7
14.Qd2

Simply trying to disrupt Black's development. Now Bb7 is difficult to achieve.

14...d6?

A mistake.

15.e4 Bf6 16.Qh6 Re8

17.e5?!

Probably unnecessary, simpler was 17.Qxh7+ Kf8 18.Qh6+ Bg7 19.Qd2±.

17...Nxe5 18.Ne4 Nxf3+ 19.Bxf3
d5 20.Kf1

With my last few moves I've really muddied the waters. The position is no longer clear at all.

20...Bxb2 21.cxd5 exd5 22.Ng5
Qe7 23.Kg1 Bb7 24.Rxd5! Bg7
25.Qxh7+

Finally the pawn on h7 is captured, 8 moves after the first opportunity.

Joshua Gutman

25...Kf8 26.Qh4 Bxd5 27.Bxd5 Rad8 28.Bxf7

28...Rd1+?!

Both players missed a strong opportunity for Black: 28...Rd4 29.f4 29...Rd1+ 30.Kh2 Qe1 31.Rxe1 Rxe1 32.Kh3 Rh1+ 33.Kg4 Rxh4+ 34.gxh4+ with an advantage for Black.

After 28...Rd4, 29.Qh7 may seem tempting, but is impossible due to the following combination: 29...Rd1+ 30.Kh2 Rxh1+ 31.Kxh1 Qxf7! 32.Nxf7 Kxf7-+ and the White Queen is trapped.

29.Kh2 Rxh1+ 30.Kxh1 Qe1+

31.Kh2 Re5?

31...Qe5 32.Bxe8 Kxe8± still retained drawing chances for Black.

32.Bxg6 Qxf2? 33.Ne6+! 1-0

For if 33...Rxe6, then 34.Qd8+ Re8 35.Qxe8 mate, and if 33...Kg8 then 34.Qh7 mate.

Game 17

Brown, Michael W. (2121) -
Peters, Jack (2377)
[A58] Benko Gambit

Notes by IM Jack Peters.

1.d4 Nf6 2.c4 c5 3.d5 b5 4.cxb5
a6 5.bxa6 g6 6.Nc3 Bxa6 7.g3

A reliable system against the Benko Gambit.

7...d6 8.Bg2 Bg7 9.Nf3 0-0
10.Rb1

Quite reasonable, although White often prefers 10.0-0 Nbd7 11.Rb1.

10...Bb7

I didn't know the current theory and "invented" a rarely-seen move.

Customary is 10...Nbd7 11.0-0 (Future stars Radjabov and Carlsen tested 11.b3 Qa5 12.Bd2 Bb7 13.0-0 in 2006, with a hard-fought draw.) 11...Qa5 12.Bd2±.

11.b3?

Faulty, as White's Bishop will not reach b2.

The correct 11.0-0 Nbd7 12.Re1± favors White.

I intended 11.0-0 Na6?!, which appears worse after 12.e4 Nc7 13.Re1±.

11...Na6!?

White can parry 11...Qa5 with 12.0-0!?, foreseeing 12...Qxc3 13.Bd2 Nxd5 14.Bxc3 Nxc3, a less effective Queen sacrifice than the one Black used in the game.

12.Qd2

Trying to prepare Bc1-b2. We can dismiss most alternatives quickly.

First, White must avoid 12.Bb2? Nb4+ and 12.0-0? Nb4+.

Also 12.e4? e6 13.0-0 exd5 14.exd5 Nb4+ is great for Black.

The plausible 12.a3 Nc7 13.Nh4 seems sturdy until Black finds 13...Nd7 14.Bb2 (If 14.Na4 Nb5 15.0-0 Nb6, White has worries at a3 and c3.) 14...Rxa3! 15.Bxa3 Bxc3+ 16.Kf1 Qa8, with plenty for the exchange.

Finally, White does not drop material with 12.a4 Nb4 13.Nh4 Qd7 14.0-0 h6, but he must loosen his pawn structure with 15. e4 or 15. f4 to meet the threat of 15...g5.

12...Nb4 13.Nh4 Qa5 14.a3

14...Nbx d5?

I thought I was winning and didn't anticipate White's reply.

Michael saw Black's best response: 14...Nc2+! 15.Qxc2 (not 15.Kf1? Nxa3 16.Ra1 Nc4!-+) 15...Nxd5. White cannot survive 16. Bd2? Bxc3, but 16.0-0! Qxc3 17.Qd1 Qd4 18.Bb2 Qxd1 19.Rfxd1 e6 holds Black to a tiny plus.

15.b4!

For a moment, I thought I would lose a piece.

Fortunately for me, Black has a resource.

15...Nxc3 16.bxa5 Nxb1 17.Qd3 Bxg2 18.Nxg2 Rfb8 19.0-0 Rxa5

Now I optimistically imagined Black's Knight retreating to safety and the c-pawn advancing.

20.Ne3±

The truth is that the position still favors White slightly.

20...Rab5 21.Nc4?

With 21.a4! Rb3 22.Qc2, White poses difficult problems. Neither 22...Na3?! 23.Bxa3 Rxa3 24.Nc4 Rab3 25.a5± nor 22...Nc3? 23.a5 d5 24.a6 c4 25.Bb2! Rxb2 26.a7!+- qualifies as a solution.

However, Black should meet 21.a4! Rb3 22.Qc2 by 22...d5! 23.Qxc5 e6 24.a5 Nc3∞.

21...Rb3?

Failing to take advantage of White's mistake.

I considered 21...d5! 22.Nb2 but missed 22...Ne4! 23.Qxb1 Bxb2 24.a4 Rb3 25.Bxb2 Rxb2 26.Qd3 e6, when Black has excellent winning chances.

22.Qc2

Now White threatens both 23.Bb2 and Nc4-a5-c6, hitting e7.

22...Nd5 23.e4 Nc7

24.Na5

White's last winning attempt is 24.e5!?, hoping for 24...dxe5?? 25. Bb2+.

Black must counterattack with 24...d5! 25.Na5 R3b6 26.Qxc5 Ne6! or with 24...Ne6! 25.exd6 exd6 26.Nxd6 Be5 27.Nc4 Nd4 28.Qe4 Nc3 29.Qg4 f5 30.Qh3 Bf6∞.

24...R3b6 25.Nc4 Rb3 26.Na5

Accepting repetition. I think both of us were relieved to draw!

26...R3b6 27.Nc4 Rb3 1/2-1/2

GM Timur Gareev Wins 11th Metropolitan FIDE Invitational 7-2

August 23-27, 2011

GM Timur Gareev of Uzbekistan scored 7-2 to win the 11th Metro FIDE Invitational in downtown Los Angeles. This event, which had three grandmasters and seven international masters competing, was held right after the First Metropolitan International, which attracted many foreign titled players. Second place, one half point behind at 6½-2½, was GM Dejan Bojkov of Bulgaria. IM Zhanibek Amanov was third, at 5½-3½. Next, at 4½-4½, were IM Siddharth Ravichandran of India and IM Raja Panjwani of Canada.

At 4-5 were GM Melikset Khachiyan, IM Andranik Matikozyan of Armenia, and IM Mackenzie Molner. IMs Levon Altounian and IM Mark Ginsburg finished with 2½-6½.

Gareev's victory came just after his second place finish in the Metropolitan International. After his only loss in round 5 to Panjwani, his strong finish of three wins and a draw was just enough to take first.

We present two games from the event. In both, we see a Queen facing the possibility of getting trapped. But foresight and creativity prevail!

1.e4 e5 2.Nf3 Nc6 3.Bc4 Bc5 4.b4 Bxb4 5.c3 Ba5 6.d4 exd4

More usual is 6...d6 7.Qb3 Qd7 8.dxe5 Bb6 9.Nbd2.

7.Qb3 Qf6 8.0-0 Bb6 9.e5 Qg6 10.cxd4 Nge7 11.Re1

Black is also doing well with 11.Bd3 Qh5 12.Bb2 d6 13.exd6 cxd6 14.Nbd2 Be6 15.Qa3 0-0.

11...Na5 12.Qc3 Nxc4 13.Qxc4 0-0 14.d5

Black gets the advantage, but after 14.Nc3 d6 15.exd6 Qxd6 16.a4 Be6 17.Qd3, Black is fine, too, enjoying both the pawn and the compensation, with the two Bishops and better pawns.

White is ready to play 26.g4 and trap the Queen, but Black has prepared a powerful response.

25...f6!! 26.g4 Qe8 27.Nc6 fxe5!!

Black gets material compensation...

28.Rxe8 Rdx8 29.Nd4 Rf4!

And all Black's pieces are active.

30.N2b3 gxh4 31.Qb4 Re3

White can save the Knight, but the attack still rages. The King's protection is about to crumble.

32.Qd2 Nc4 33.Qc1 Bxd4 34.Qxc4 Be5

The game is now about two Rooks and two Bishops attacking the King.
35.Qb5 h3+ 36.Kxh3 Bxg4+

It's going to be mate or worse.
37.Kg2 Bxf3+ 38.Kg1 Bh5 0-1
 Nice play, GM Gareev!

The next game was two rounds and just 24 hours later. Molner is on the other side of it this time, and sees that his own Queen might be trapped. He is more than equal to the task. Perhaps he learned from his game with Gareev, because he responds with a somewhat similar idea.

31...Ba6?
Cy: Ready. Set. Wait ... I'm not quite ready to go! I hate myself! True to form I played it safe and rushed to regain material equality.

Answer: I should play 31...Rf3! threatening to take on g3. If 32.Kh2, then Qf7 33.Rd2 Nxc4 34.Rc2 e3 annihilates White.

32.Nb4 Bxc4 33.Qxe4 Bxf1 34.Rxf1

36...Qc4 37.Qxc4+
Jack: White could set the trap 37.Qb7!? Rb8 38.Qa7 Qxd3?? 39.Bh6 but Black should head for the endgame with 38...Qf7.

37...Nxc4
Cy: The passed a-pawn wins.
38.Kg2 e4 39.Nb2 Nxb2 40.Bxb2 a3 41.Bc1

GM Varuzhan Akobian Wins 33rd Southern California Open

September 3-5, 2011

GM Varuzhan Akobian won his first 5 games and drew in the last round with IM-Elect Roman Yankovsky to take first prize with a score of 5½-1½. IM Dionisio Aldama finished second with 5-1, being perfect except for his 4th round loss to Akobian. Six players tied for third at 4½ - 1½. Chuck Ensey reports. - Ed.

Two years ago, this event was held in the same location, The Crowne Plaza Hotel in San Diego's Mission Valley, and attracted 131 players. This year there were 3 major tweaks: 1) the $20,000 Prize Fund was guaranteed, 2) a 2-day option was added and 3) IMs and GMs played for free, with not even prizes deducted. Although only 4 players took advantage of the last perk, the other two factors seemed to have had a big effect and attendance jumped to 180 players (including 1 re-entry).

About half the players were locals and half were from out of San Diego County. It was not quite the 200 total we were looking for, but we are hopeful that next time, we will far surpass 200 as word spreads about this great event.

The 59 player Open Section included 21 Masters and 30 Experts. GM Varuzhan Akobian was the highest rated by far, so it was no surprise that he won First Place ($2,600) and gave up only a last round draw to the recently crowned Southern California State Champion Roman Yankovsky.

IM Dionisio Aldama of Arizona took clear Second Place ($1,800) with his only loss being to Var. A critical game for Dionisio was the last round duel with Gregg Small which ended up being the last game of the event. Gregg appeared to have the upper hand for most of the six hour game, but he somehow went astray against the strong IM, who gamely battled back to win a nice endgame with a big sigh of relief. The players laughed and shook hands at the end in a great show of sportsmanship.

Six other players scored 4½ and took home $800 each: Roman, as mentioned, along with Howard Chen of Washington state, Shijie Chen, a new young player from China, rated only 1989, but no doubt soon to skyrocket, GM Melikset Khachiyani, and local players Ali Morshedi and Alan Tsoi. Six other masters trailed with 4 points, good for $266 each: Gregg Small, Eugene Yanayt, Giovanni Carreto, Ronald Bruno, Kyron Griffith and Ryan Porter.

In the U2000 Section, Vincent Nguyen tied for First with Alexander Xie; Richard Yang was Third Place while Paul Duncan, Alex Wang, Kenneth Xu and Bobby Avila tied for 4th.

We had a clear winner in the U1800 Section with Brian Glover of Los Angeles winning $1,000 for his 5½ point score, young Annie Wang was the only one to nick him for a draw in round 4. Nicky Korba tied with Poker Star Allen Cunningham for 2nd/3rd Place ($500 each), with 5 points; Alan lost only to Nicky, and Nicky only to Brian. Charlie Berkman was 4th Place.

The U1600 section also had a clear $1,000 winner in young Theo Caen who scored 5½ with a last round draw against Ajay Krishnan. Sam Kennedy, Blake Borskey and David Bonner tied for 2nd- 4th ($400 each). All 3 of these players lost to Theo!

GM Varuzhan Akobian: Here, he is at work in the National Open

Finally, in the Booster Section, Avi Jannol won clear First, although he was tied by an unrated player who also scored 5, Fridha Becerra of Mexico. John Carson, James Holder, Roy Benson and Daniel Sun tied for 3rd-4th with 4 points and Anthony Wong won BU1300, also with 4. Young Gia Petersen was 2nd U1200.

Bruce Baker directed the event which went off smoothly, on time and with no major issues or complaints.

There was a bit of noise for a while from a raucous wedding across the hall on one night, but it mostly affected the third room with the lowest rated boards; the other two rooms were fairly well soundproofed. Most of the players were complimentary about the excellent conditions, lighting and logistics. - Chuck Ensey

Three best game prizes were awarded. We present each game below, with some observations. - Ed.

20.Nh5 Nxh5 21.Qxh5 g6 22.Qf3

22...Be8??

This allows White to get a large, permanent advantage.

Black must guard f7 with the King here: 22...Kg8 23.Qg3 Kh7
24.Nf3 Bg7±.

23.Nxg6!

The positional damage hurts Black far more than the loss of material, for White can take his time to maneuver his pieces and prepare his attack.

23...Bg7

After 23...fxg6 24.Qxf8, White has a huge positional advantage due to the weak Black Kingside:

Trying to hold onto the pawn won't work: 24...g5 25.h4!, and if 24...h5, then 25.Bg5 Qc7 26.f4 Qg7 27.Qxg7+ Kxg7 28.Bxd8 +.

Bd6 11.0-0

After a normal opening, White enjoys a slight advantage, being a little ahead in development.

11...g5

Black is not content to continue in the usual manner with 11...0-0 12.Rab1 a5, after which White has tried many different 13th moves.

12.Bg3 Bxg3 13.fxg3 Qe7 14.Ne5
Also good was 14.Rae1 0-0-0±.

14...Nxe5 15.dxe5 Nd7

It was good to avoid 15...Qxe5 16.Rf5 Qe6 17.Raf1 Nd7 18.e4 0-0-0 19.exd5 cxd5±, with many options for White.

16.Rf5

This allows Black to castle Queenside safely.

To continue with middle game play while Black is still in the opening, 16.e6 Qxe6 17.e4 dxe4 18.Nxe4 0-0 19.Rae1 gets White some compensation for the pawn, in the form of better development and a safer King.

16...Nxe5

This move is asking for too much out of the position.

Instead, Black should be content with the fact that White's e-pawns are weak. With this philosophy, Black can play 16...0-0-0 17.Qd4 Kb8, as he gets castled and is developed.

Sometimes, less is more. But not always.

17.Qd4 f6 18.e4 dxe4 19.Nxe4 Rd8??

Black should not have delayed castling any longer. Better was 19...0-0 20.Raf1 Nd7±.

10.e5 Nd7 11.h4!

White has closed the center and is happy that his Rook is still on h1, and now starts the attack.

In addition, the Queen and at least three minor pieces are ready to help build the Kingside assault.

I doubt very much if it's possible to defend this position.

11...f6

White can answer 11...h6 with 12.Ng5!. And if 11...f5, it's 12.Ng5! again.

12.Qb1?!

This move is a bit soft.

Still strong is 12.Ng5! and the Knight can't be taken, for 12...fxg5 13.Bxh7+ Kxh7 14.hxg5+ Kg8 15.Rh8+ Kxh8 16.Qh5+ Kg8 17.g6 Nf6 18.exf6 Rxf6 19.Qh7+ Kf8 20.Qh8 is mate.

12...g6?

This loses a pawn.

If 12...h6, then 13.Bxh6 also gets a pawn for White, for if 13...gxh6, then 14.Bh7+ Kh8 15.Qg6 and White's attack works, for example, 15...Rg8 16.Qxh6 Qf8 17.Qh5 Rg7 18.Bf5+ Kg8 19.Bxe6+ +.

But even after 12...fxe5, White still has a great position, since after 13.Bxh7+ Kh8 14.Bxe5 Ndx5 15.dxe5 b4 16.Qg6 Rf5, White is up material with great chances to win. One insane computer variation continues with 17.Ng5! Nxe5! 18.Qh5 Nd3+ 19.Kd1 Nf4 20.Bxf5+! Nxe5 21.Nf7+ Kg8 22.Nxd8 Bxd8 23.Bc2+/-.

13.Bxg6 hxg6?

It was best to leave the Bishop alone, although 13...fxe5 14.Ng5 is going to win, too.

14.Qxg6+!

It's a mate in two.

14...Kh8 15.Ng5 fxg5 16.hxg5 mate.

Ridgecrest

The Columbus Day Scholastic chess tournament at Las Flores Elementary School in Ridgecrest, California drew 112 students in five sections (K-1, 2-3, 4-5, 6-8, and 9-12).

The unrated tournament was free for all students, and everyone received an award. There were 70 trophies awarded. The monthly tournaments usually average over 100 students per tournament. Games are usually G/15, and students usually play 4-6 rounds.

Tournament director, Dwight Morgan (dmorgan178@yahoo.com) has been running chess tournaments in the Ridgecrest area for over 20 years.

The next tournament is Friday, November 11, Veteran's Day, at Pierce Elementary School (674 N. Gold Canyon, Ridgecrest).

Registration is from 8:30 - 9:00 am., and awards are given out around 12:30 p.m. (sidenote: GM Hikaru Nakamura lived in Ridgecrest for a few years as a child, and was probably first exposed to chess here!).

San Luis Obispo

The San Luis Obispo Scholastic Fall Fiesta tournament is scheduled for December 10th at Sinsheimer Elementary School in San Luis Obispo. It will be a one-day 5-round SS G/30 tournament for K-12 kids. There will be at least one rated section (more if number of entries allow) and one unrated section for beginning players. Trophies and prizes to be awarded to top players.

Full tournament description and rules can be found at www.slochess.com.

The San Luis Obispo Chess Club

will hold a non-rated "Just for Fun" quick chess tournament on Thursday, November 10, G/15, Quads, no entry fee. Winner of each Quad will receive a $10 Carl's Jr. gift card.

Arrive by 6:45 pm. for games beginning at 7:00 p.m. at Carl's Jr., 195 North Foothill in SLO.

San Diego

Summer at the San Diego Chess Club

71 players tested out their skills in the 6 round Anthony Harbone Precision Shootout this August and September. Anthony is our beloved octogenarian who still plays a mean game with his recent rating ranging from 1700 to his floor at 1600. I said some nice things about him on our website and then he turns around and beats me the next week, so I am not going to sing his praises today!

The Shootout had 4 sections and we used a different type of pairing system than the normal Swiss. I won't explain all the rules of Precision Pairing, but the main one is you play the person closest to you in rating, even in the first round.

The Gunslinger Open was the top section, won by John Funderberg, with 5 points. Bruce Baker was 2nd and Raoul Crisologo won BU2200. In the Sniper Section (U2000), Allan Virtue scored 5½, an impressive result since this was only his 2nd event since 1995. Chris Wonnell was 2nd and Hector Gonzalez won BU1800.

We also had two sections playing at a G/90 time control. The Sharpshooter Open was won by Robert DeFore with 5; Pejman Sagart was 2nd with 4½ and Jerry Qu won BU1800 with 4. In the Bounty Hunter Section, Zechariah Zhu tied with John Huey for First Place with 5 while Daniel Zhu won BU1400 and Ronald Stanard won BU1200.

On October 1st, a special 5 round Super Gambito Open #534 attracted 33 players going for $2,000 in guaranteed prizes. With 9 Masters, including 2 IMs, it was an exceptionally strong field for this local event. IM Dionisio Aldama tied with Ron Bruno for 1st place. Varun Krishnan won BU2400 while Craig Faber and Jamieson Pryor tied for BU2200. Chris Wonnell won BU2000.

Jason Arbeiter won First place in the Reserve section; Rolando Ignacio was 2nd and Albert Dumaran 3rd. Jay Choi won BU1600, Ajay Krishnan was 2nd U1600 and Wili Rivera and Cassidy Liu tied for BU1400.

The Gambito Open is usually just 4 rounds of G/40 with 5 second delay and has been held almost every single Saturday for over 10 years. So far this year, 121 different players have won a combined total of over $22,000 in prizes.

Please see our website at sdchessclub.multiply.com for more details and photos. - Chuck Ensey

A new event called Saturday Special held on the third Saturday of each month is hoping to promote chess through sponsorships. The event format is a one section with a single time control plus an increment starting on move one.

Any player who signs up for a USCF and/or SCCF membership on site will get a free entry.

In the 2nd Saturday Special in October, Fausto Oviedo sponsored the lunch for all 15 players. He just came from a big win in the Los Angeles Open U1700 section. Joseph Bellinger claimed top honors with 3/3. Leo De Vries, Neil Bershad, Mark Jackson, Qinzhong Chen, and Shyam Gandhi tied for second with 2/3.

Sponsorships can be made towards a player, prize fund, or all.

The 3rd Saturday Special will be on November 19.

October QUADS - an Intense Adventure for 8: The eight competitors met at the AV Chess House at 10 am on Saturday, October 1. Gia took 1st Place and Jayani took 6th Place out of 12 girls in the K-3 Girls section. Dante took 8th Place out of 33 boys in the Grades 4-5 Boys Section. Also, their dad said, the three of them won Cimarron "the school team title."

The Polgar Open was created and is organized annually by the Susan Polgar Foundation. Susan Polgar, now 42, runs the Susan Polgar Institute for Chess Excellence at Texas Tech University.

La Palma

With an undefeated score of 4½-½, Mehrdad Miralaie won La Palma Chess Club's Sweet Summer Endgame Swiss that ended on September 30th. Craig Faber, who recently returned to the club after working in Paso Robles for the last two years, took second place at 4-1.

In the lower section, Mark Jackson, Chris Zalecki and Neil Bellinger tied for first place with 4-1. Sid Soma-sundaram won the U1600 trophy and newcomer Robert Martin won the U1300 trophy. Martin also won the biggest upset prize for his 442 point upset of Phil Beilin.

See the club's website for standings, a schedule of events, and games at www.lapalmachess.com.

Pasadena

Pasadena Chess Club

The traditional San Gabriel Valley Championship attracted 62 players, with five emerging on top at 5-1: John Hale, Yusheng Xia, Robert Xue, Feiyue Yang, and Richard Yang (no relation). Xia, with a half-point bye in the first round, was unable to beat Hale (who had drawn with Randy Hough) in the finale. Xue lost to Feiyue, who in turn was one of Xia's victims. Richard Yang suffered his loss against Jesse Victoria – but as an A player earned more than those with whom he tied!

Brian Cheng, rated 1323, tallied three upsets to score 4-2 and take Under 1800 (!) honors. Kevin Qian, Jennifer Lu, Alex Hung, and Tim Deng (son of the famous coaching team) split Under 1600 money with 2½. Vincent Lin and Sean Nguyen were top U1400, Cory Chen and Kyle Li U1200, and James Jen was the only Unrated (but scored a creditable 3 points).

The Pasadena Club meets Friday evenings at 7pm at the Boys and Girls Club, 3230 East Del Mar. See webpage <http://www.tim-thompson.com/pasadena.html>.

“A Rose for Your Queen,” a three-rounder in multiple sections, will take place December 2 – 16; for information contact Randy Hough, 626 282-7412 or randeallhough@yahoo.com.

Hemet

52 players participated in the Hemet Chess Club 3rd Annual Championship. The 5 round Swiss at G/30 provided some very entertaining and exciting chess. Ken Arnold, the defending club champion, was 1/2 point behind his brother going into the last round. Jeff Arnold, the point leader at 3-1/2 out of 4, fell victim to a deadly attack by Art Silbar, an expert. Ken won his last round game and defended his club title.

Art Silbar won the U2100 trophy, Dake Huang won 1st U1600, 2nd U1600 was Conrado Castellanos, 1st U1000 was Benjamin B. DE Guzman, and Daniel Serna took 2nd U1000. There was also an unrated section and a scholastic section. The scholastic chess players displayed a toughness which is needed for tournament chess.

The tournament took place at Valley Wide Recreation in San Jacinto, and Valley Wide was a great host to our slowly expanding chess club.

The Hemet Chess Club meets regularly on Sunday evenings at Steve's Burgers in Hemet. For more information visit www.hemetchessclub.blogspot.com
